

ABSTRACT

An outlet device for chocolates and the like (100) for a wrapping machine (50), provided at least with moving means (51) of each product (100), comprises:

- 5    - first belt means (2) to move the products (100) to be rolled and operated by actuating means (10), through first connecting means (5) connecting the belt means (2) to the actuating means (10), according to a first direction (A) of a rotary motion of said actuating means (10);
  - 10   - rolling means (4) facing the first belt means (2) and intended to roll the products (100) moved by said first belt means (2);
- second belt means (3) to move the products (100) which do not require rolling and are operated by actuating means (10) through second connecting means (6) in the second direction (B) of rotation of said actuating means (10).